DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-7, 12-14, 18, 19, 22-26, and 32 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-18 of U.S. Patent No. 7168429. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the structural limitations set forth in claims 1-7, 12*14, 18, 19, 22-26, and 32 of the instant application are also claimed in the patent, e.g. a pressure generating system, a patient circuit, a monitoring system, and a controller.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claim 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Jafari et al. 6626175.

5. Jafari et al. teaches an auto-titration pressure support system comprising: a pressure generating system 34; a patient circuit having a first end and a second end (see fig. 1); a monitoring system 38, 60 & 70; a controller for controlling the pressure generating system based on the output of the monitoring system, wherein the controller performs a trend analysis on the output of the monitoring system; wherein the controller determines a plurality of values for a monitored breather parameter over a period of time and performs a long-term trend analysis and a short-term trend analysis on the plurality of values for the monitored breath parameter in deciding whether to cause the pressure generating system to adjust the pressure level of the flow of breathing gas (col. 12, lines 39-62); wherein a result of the long-term trend analysis and a short-term trend analysis for each monitored breath parameter are used to determine a trend analysis vote associated with each monitored breath parameter, wherein the trend analysis votes for a plurality of monitored breath parameters are accumulated to determine a final vote value, and wherein the controller causes the pressure generating system to adjust the pressure level of the flow of breathing gas based on the final vote value (col. 16, lines 36-51).
